This is one shortcut from a series of separate student notes - one topic per PDF. Copy the prompt, replace the words inside [square brackets] with your own facts, and paste it into any AI tool. The draft helps you get the format and tone right. Check every name and date, then write the final letter yourself, in your own words.

Every Letter Follows the Same Skeleton

Students lose marks on letters for one simple reason: a part is missing. The English may be fine, but there is no subject line, or no date, or the closing is wrong. Learn the skeleton once, and every letter and application in this note becomes easy to check.

Part	What goes there
Receiver and date	Who it is to (The Head Teacher, GPS [school name]) and the date, at the top.
Subject line	One short line: what the letter is about. Example: Application for two days leave.
Respectful opening	Respected Sir / Madam, followed by a polite first sentence.
Body - three parts	1) Why you are writing. 2) The facts: dates, class, roll number, reason. 3) Your clear request.
Polite closing	A thank-you line, then Yours obediently / Yours sincerely, your name, class and roll number.

Formal or informal? Know the difference

Formal - to teachers and offices	Informal - to family and friends
Applications, requests, complaints, certificates	Invitations, thank-you notes, news, congratulations
Subject line, full format, very polite words	No subject line, warm and natural words
Closes: Yours obediently, Yours sincerely	Closes: Your friend, With love, Take care

> The one rule that makes letters work: give the AI true facts only - your real name, class, dates and reason. The AI is good at format and polite English. It does not know your life, and it will invent a date or a reason if you leave a gap. Invented facts in a real application can get you into trouble.

The Master Prompt

Copy this prompt, fill in every bracket, and send. It works for almost any letter or application - the seven prompts after it are ready-made versions for the jobs students do most often.

1. Write any letter or application - the master prompt

Best for: ChatGPT, Claude, Gemini, Muse

> You are my English writing helper. Write a [formal application / formal letter / informal letter] for a Class [8] student. To: [The Head Teacher, school name]. Subject or purpose: [what the letter is about]. My facts: my name is [your name], Class [8], Roll No. [12]. Reason and details: [write the true reason and dates]. Keep it short, polite and in simple, correct English. Use the full school format: receiver, date, subject line (formal only), respectful opening, a body in 3 short paragraphs, a thank-you line, and the closing Yours obediently with my name, class and roll number below. Do not invent any facts I did not give you - if something is missing, write it as [fill in] so I can complete it myself.

Tip: Read the draft once for facts before anything else: name, class, dates and reason must all be yours and all be true.

Why this prompt works

- It names the type. Formal and informal letters have different formats and closings - telling the AI which one stops the most common mistake.
- It supplies the facts. Name, class, roll number, dates and reason are all in the prompt, so the AI has nothing to invent.
- It fixes the shape. Asking for the full format and a body in three short paragraphs gives you a letter you can check part by part against page 2.
- It leaves blanks honestly. The [fill in] instruction means missing information stays visible instead of being quietly made up.

> Make it yours in ten seconds: keep one copy of the master prompt in your notebook with your name, class and roll number already filled in. Each new letter then needs only the purpose, the reason and the dates changed.

Ready Prompts for School Applications

The three applications students write most. Each one already carries the right tone - you only add your true facts.

2. Leave application - sick leave or family work

Best for: ChatGPT, Claude, Gemini

> Write a formal leave application to the Head Teacher of [school name] from [your name], Class [8], Roll No. [12]. I need leave on [dates, e.g. 12 and 13 November] because [true reason, e.g. I have fever / there is a family function at home]. Keep it very short and polite, in full format with a subject line, and end with Yours obediently. Do not add any reason or date I did not give you.

Tip: For sick leave after you return, many schools also want a separate application written on the day you come back - this same prompt works, just change the dates to past dates.

3. Permission application - event, trip or early leave

Best for: ChatGPT, Claude, Gemini

> Write a formal application asking permission for [what you need permission for, e.g. to join the school study trip / to leave school one hour early on Friday for a family reason]. My name is [your name], Class [8], Roll No. [12], school [school name]. Give the date and time clearly, be polite and brief, use full format with a subject line, and promise to follow the school rules for the event.

Tip: Permission is always easier to get before the event, not after. Write the application at least one day early.

4. Fee concession application - a respectful request

Best for: ChatGPT, Claude, Gemini

> Write a formal fee concession application to the Head Teacher of [school name] from [your name], Class [8], Roll No. [12]. Explain respectfully and briefly that [true situation in one or two lines, e.g. my father is a daily-wage worker and our family income is low], and request [full / half] fee concession so I can continue my studies. Keep the tone dignified and polite, use full format with a subject line, and do not exaggerate or invent any detail.

Tip: Only write what is true about your family. A short, honest application is stronger than a long, dramatic one.

Ready Prompts for Other Letters

A certificate request, a complaint that stays polite, and the two friendly letters - thank-you and apology - where the tone matters most.

5. Certificate request - character or school leaving certificate

Best for: ChatGPT, Claude, Gemini

> Write a formal application to the Head Teacher of [school name] requesting a [character certificate / school leaving certificate]. My name is [your name], I studied in Class [8], Roll No. [12], from [year] to [year]. I need the certificate for [true purpose, e.g. admission to a new school]. Be brief and polite, use full format with a subject line, and leave any detail you do not know as [fill in].

Tip: Apply a few days before you need it. Offices need time, and a certificate is rarely issued the same day.

6. A polite complaint letter - firm, never rude

Best for: ChatGPT, Claude, Gemini

> Write a polite formal complaint letter to [the Head Teacher / the concerned office] about [the problem in one line, e.g. the classroom fan has not worked for two weeks]. Facts: [when it started, who it affects, what you already tried]. Ask respectfully for the problem to be fixed. Keep the tone calm and respectful - complain about the problem, never about a person - and use full formal format with a subject line.

Tip: Read it aloud before sending. If any sentence sounds angry, ask the AI: Make this sentence calmer and more respectful, with the same facts.

7. Thank-you letter - warm and specific

Best for: ChatGPT, Claude, Gemini, Muse

> Write a warm thank-you letter to [teacher / friend / uncle - name] from [your name]. Thank them specifically for [what they did, e.g. helping me prepare for my English test]. Mention one small detail that shows I remember it well, keep it natural and friendly in simple English, about 100 words, with no subject line, and close with Your student / Your friend, as suitable.

Tip: Specific thanks feel real. One true detail - a date, a kind word, a book they lent you - is worth more than a page of general praise.

8. Apology letter - honest and short

Best for: ChatGPT, Claude, Gemini, Muse

> Write a sincere apology letter to [my teacher / my friend - name] from [your name] for [what happened, in one honest line]. Say sorry clearly in the first two lines, do not make excuses, say in one line what I will do differently, and keep it short and respectful.

Tip: An apology only works if it is true. If you are not sorry, do not send a made-up apology - talk to the person instead.

A Worked Example - Leave for Fever

A Class 6 student was sick for two days. Facts given to the master prompt: Ayesha Khan, Class 6, Roll No. 9, leave on 9 and 10 November, reason fever, school GPS Koz Kalay. A good result looks like this:

The Head Teacher,
GPS Koz Kalay.
Date: 11 November 2026

Subject: Application for two days leave on account of fever

Respected Sir,

With due respect, I beg to say that I am Ayesha Khan, a student of Class 6, Roll No. 9. I was suffering from fever on 9 and 10 November, so I could not attend school on these two days.

Therefore, I request you to kindly grant me leave for these two days. I shall complete my missed work this week. I shall be very thankful to you.

Yours obediently,
Ayesha Khan
Class 6, Roll No. 9

Notice: every fact came from the student - the AI only supplied the format and polite English. Check your draft the same way, line by line.

Fix the draft with one line

- Too long? Add: Make it shorter - keep the full format and all my facts, but cut it to about 80 words.
- Too stiff or too casual? Add: Make the tone more formal and respectful for a head teacher, in simple English.
- Need Urdu first? Add: First give me the same letter in simple Urdu, then the English version.

Your practice task

Take the next real application you need - or invent a practice one for a school trip. Fill in the master prompt with your own facts, read the draft against the skeleton on page 2, fix one thing yourself, then write the final letter by hand in your notebook without looking.

Use AI honestly. A draft is for learning the format and checking your English. In an exam, write the letter yourself from memory - that is the skill being tested. Never submit a letter with facts you have not checked.

Always check the facts. AI tools sometimes change a date, a spelling or a name with full confidence. Names, dates, class and roll number must be exactly yours.

Protect your personal information. Never type your password, CNIC number, home address or phone number into an AI chat - a letter prompt never needs them.
